"Wow, look at my nice shot!"

"[Fear] is only a natural part of us... It is the sister of hope. Because both are born from the uncertain fabric of life."

A LANGUAGE ITSELF

A photograph of a potted plant with large, variegated green leaves in a white vase. The plant is positioned in the lower half of the frame. The background is a light-colored wall with horizontal shadows from window blinds. The text is overlaid on the upper half of the image.

You don't need to deny the reality of the present in order to have hope, you just need to know the future is uncertain, and that life contains light as well as dark. We can have our feet right here where we are, while our minds can hear another octave, right over the rainbow.

Pieces with stories

The smaller and more selective my closet has developed over the years, the more special each piece becomes. A special component of this 100% thrifted outfit are these pants I got for $2 with my mom at Salvation Army in 2012.

Found a new happy place

A vertical photograph of a forest path. The path is a dirt trail that winds through a dense forest of tall, thin trees with lush green foliage. Sunlight filters through the leaves, creating dappled shadows on the path. The overall mood is serene and contemplative.

You can't force clarity when there is none to be had yet... Sometimes all you can do is show up. And when things are hard, to keep on showing up.

Blistered, crackly, beautiful

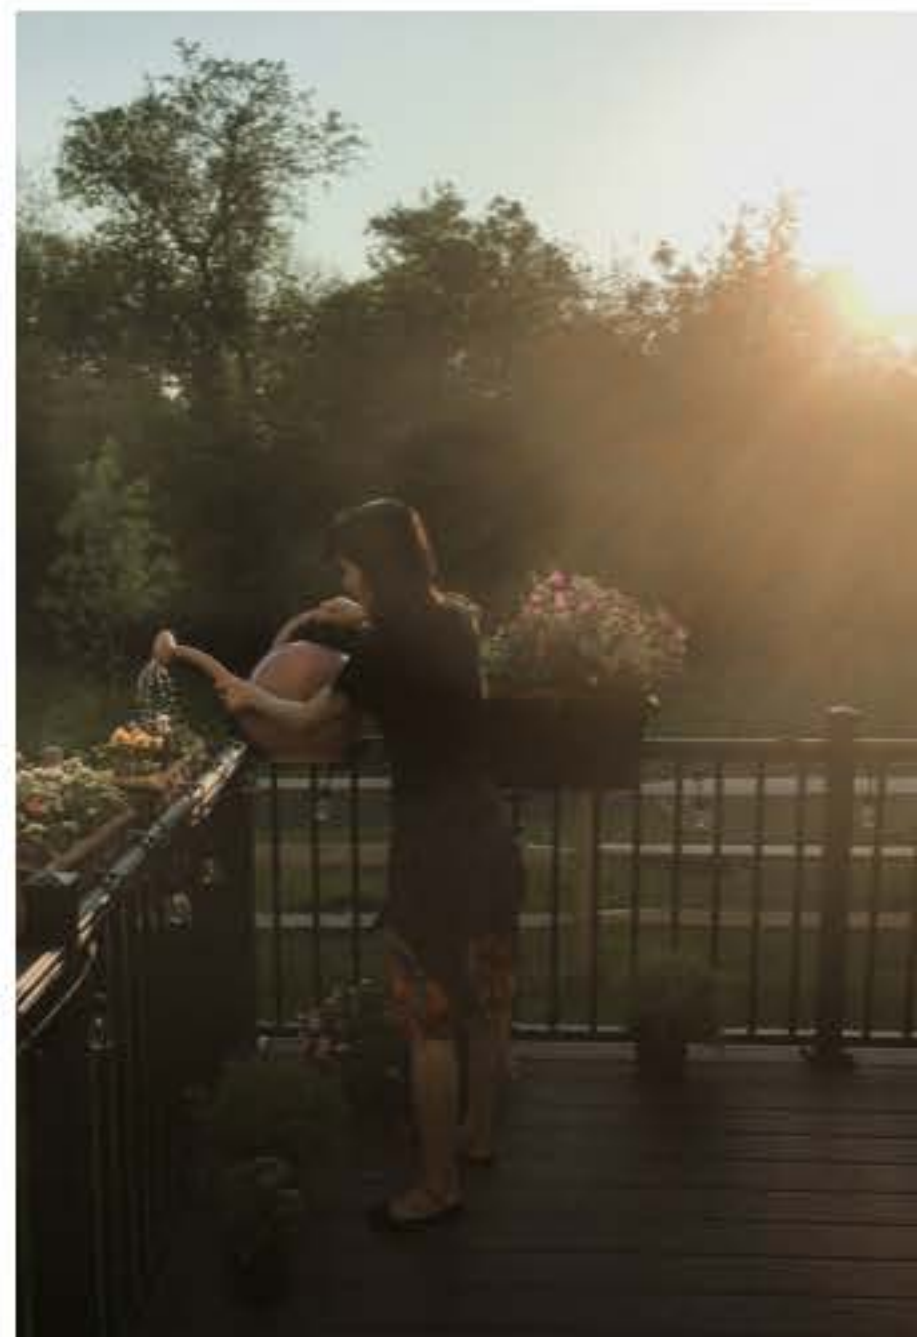

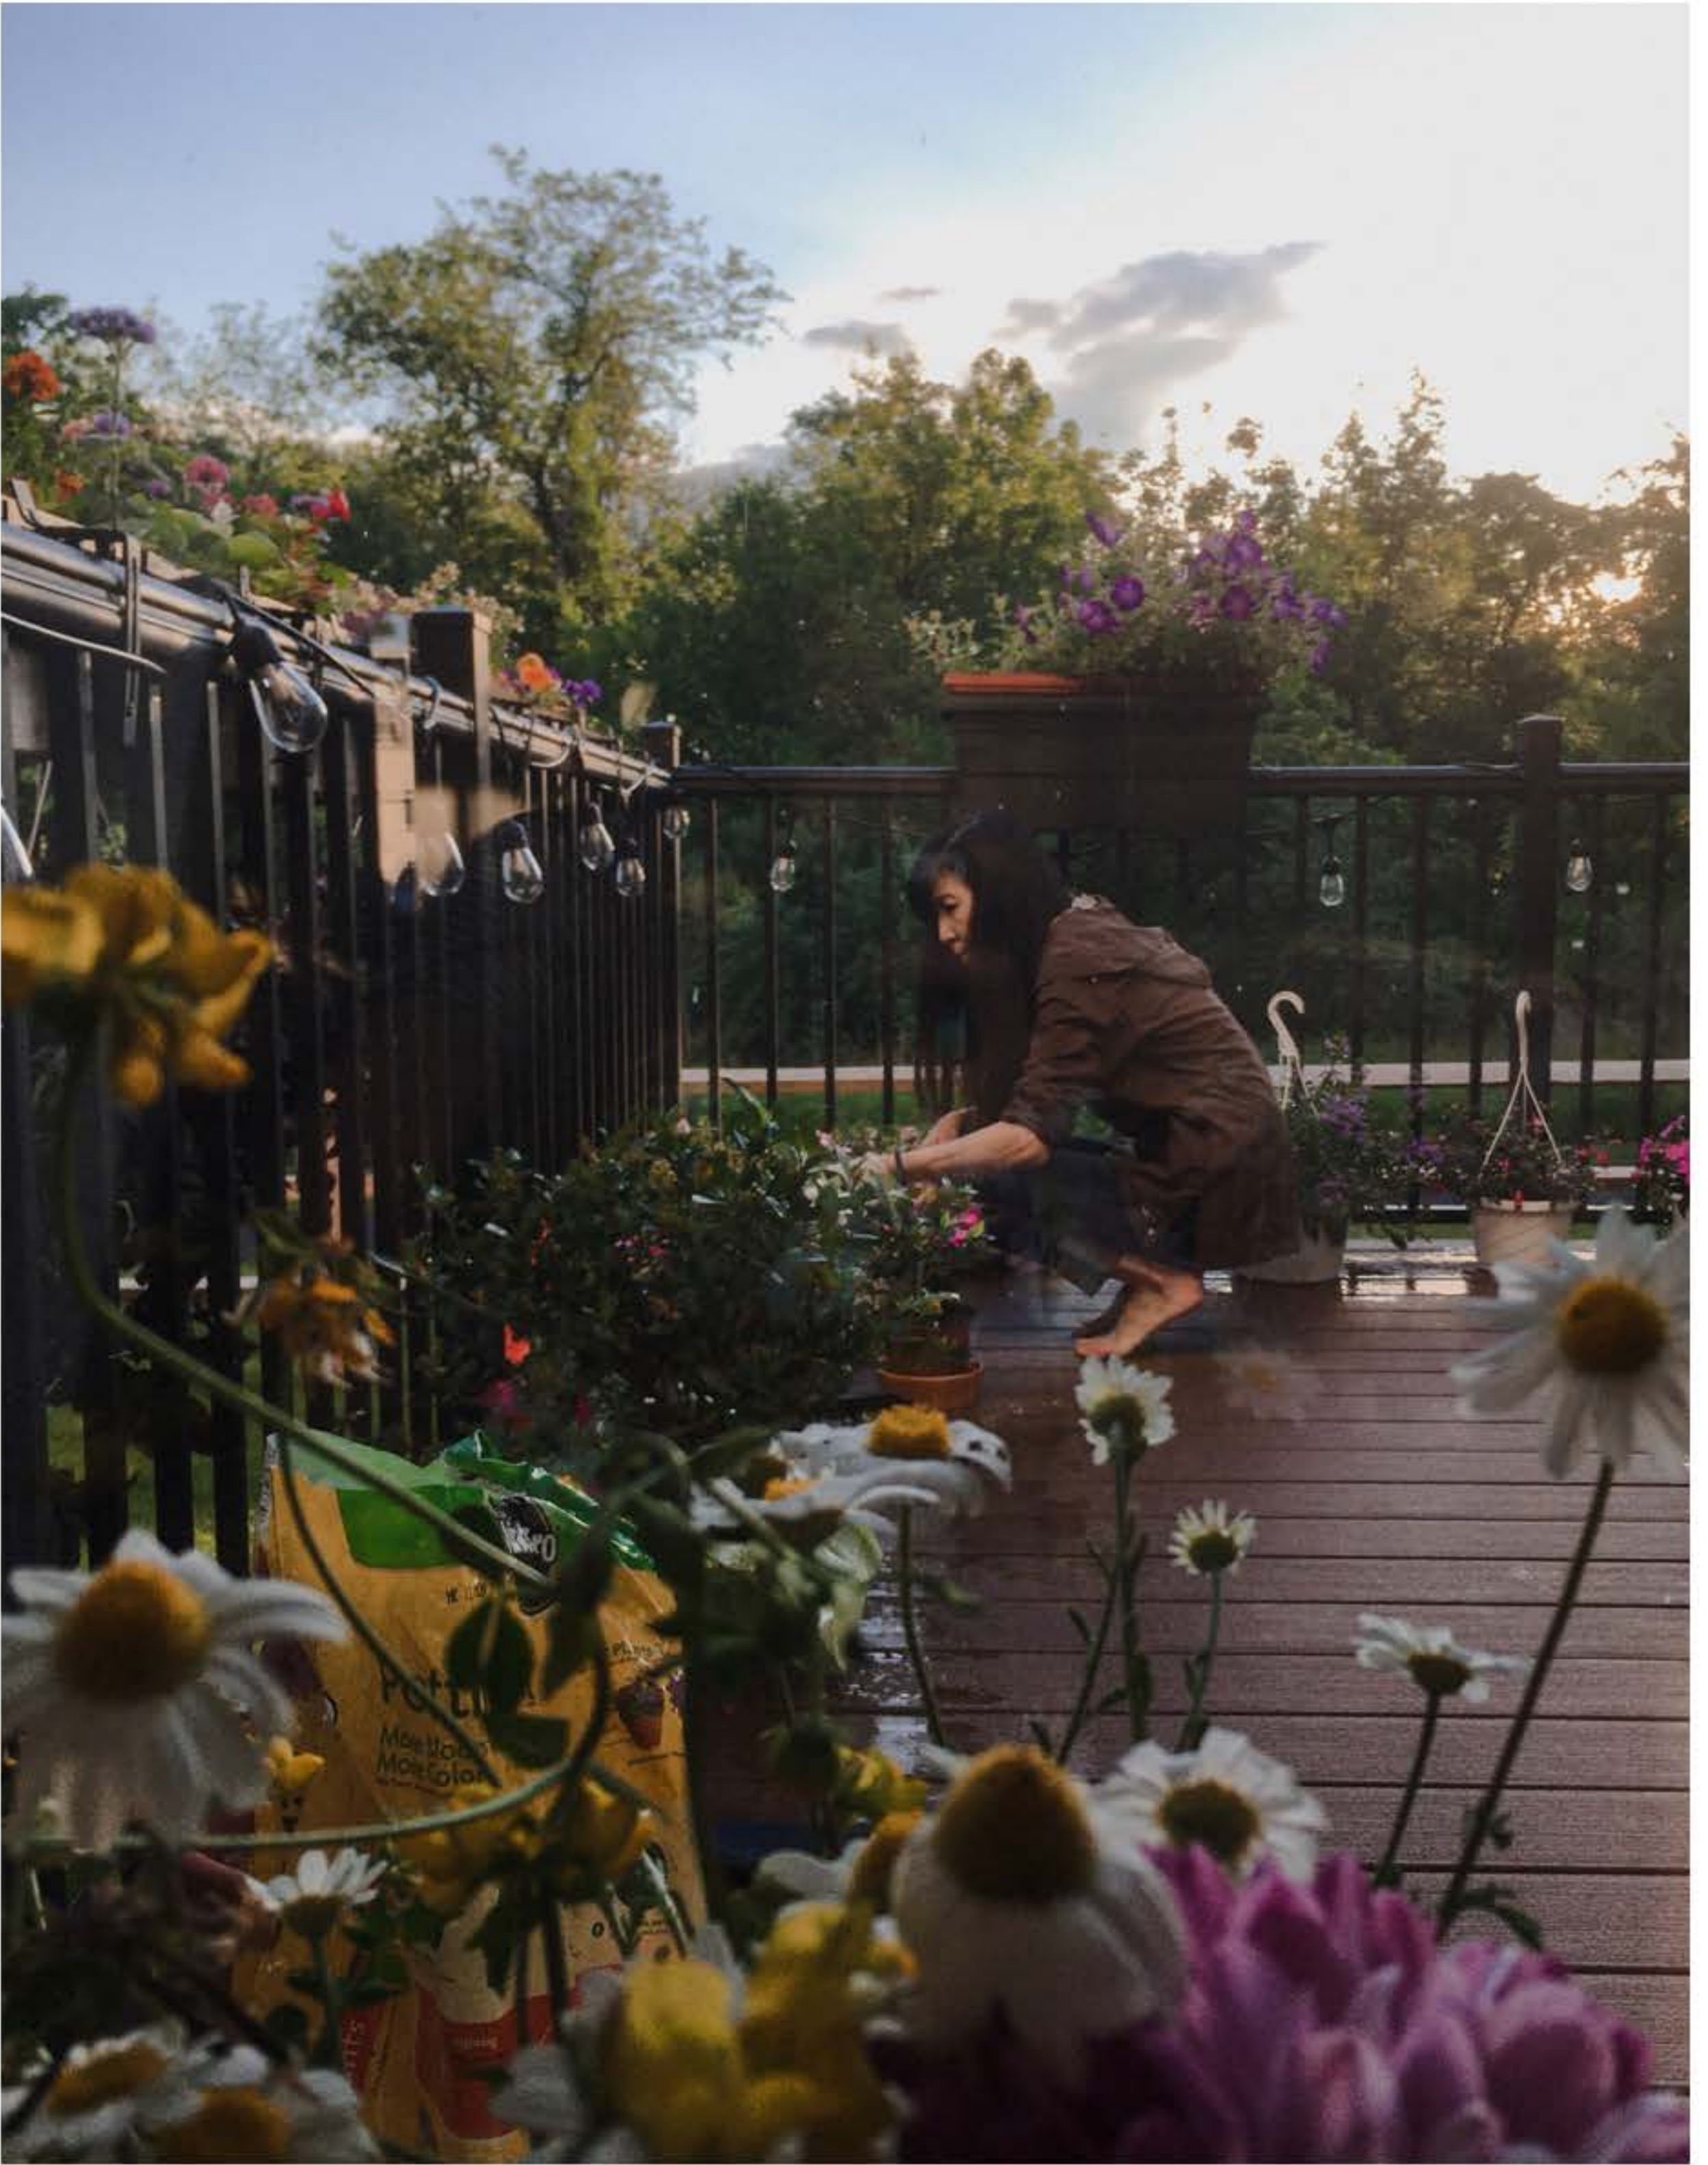

Dorie Greenspan's Miso Maple

Don't get distracted thinking about what your next move is or whether you will be acknowledged for your efforts. Go love people in extravagant, wildly inefficient ways by speaking words of beauty into their lives.
